SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—P. M.

Upon careful inquiry in various quarters, we are enabled to report what we believe to be the fact concerning the misunderstanding between Secretary Webster and Minister Rives. The former did not address a remonstrance to the President against the speech of Mr. Webster at the Congressional banquet. It was a dignified letter, expressing certain expressions against Mr. Rives, which were quite natural under the circumstances. Mr. Hulseman explicitly stated, that if the sentiments of Mr. Webster, encouraging a component part of the Austrian empire to rebellion, were endorsed by the President, the only alternative for the Austrian Minister near this government, would be to quit the country. The President invited Mr. Hulseman to a confidential conversation, which was accepted. Hulseman was then informed, substantially, that the views of the executive government were expressed in the annual message to Congress, and in the President's reply to Mr. Rives' address on his visit to the White House. The President did not endorse the speech of Mr. Webster. With this explanation, Mr. Hulseman expressed himself satisfied, provided he might be permitted the privilege of reducing the facts of the conversation to writing, for the information of his government. The President consented, and thus the matter stands. Meantime, Mr. Hulseman has given Secretary Webster, officially and socially, the cut direct, and avoids all occasions where there is necessity of contact.

CONSUL SHARKEY—STARTLING HOAX—SECRETARY WEBSTER'S SPEECH AT THE COLONIZATION AND VEYSARY, ETC.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

The Republic dailies the statement that the Captain General of Cuba refused to receive Consul Sharkey, except as a commercial agent. This government has taken factory assistance regarding his reception.

Great excitement was created in Washington, yesterday, by the reception of a despatch from New York stating that three hundred ladies and gentlemen were drawn in crossing over the Brooklyn Bridge.

The American Colonization Society celebrated their anniversary, yesterday, in the First Presbyterian Church. The exercises were presided over by Rev. Daniel Webster, and Mr. Stanton.

Mr. Webster said he never doubted the practical utility, the utility and the objects of the society. He expressed his sympathy for the government in permitting the emigration of Africans to this country for relief and availed itself.

They were now about to go back and carry their children, their wives, their families, and their property, to the home of their ancestors. He said that the United States within a few years would be a nation of Irish. Emigration of colored persons from this country to Africa, he said, was equally practicable, especially if encouraged by the government. He said that the United States, he said, was a nation of Irish, and that the United States, he said, was a nation of Irish.

He said that the United States, he said, was a nation of Irish, and that the United States, he said, was a nation of Irish.

If a person entrusted to act and speak in his name, should go forward, with any appearance of indecent haste, to salute a dictatorial power which had taken possession of the reins of a written republic, he would be guilty of a crime.

President having pledged himself to the nation to rally to his aid, and pledged himself, in the event of an unfavorable result, to surrender at once the position he had assumed, he was bound to do so.

These are the principles which, in the absence of instructions from my government, I have assumed as the proper basis of my conduct. I have assumed as the proper basis of my conduct, I have assumed as the proper basis of my conduct.

I have the honor to be, with great respect, your most obedient servant.
